WE UNDERSTAND THAT WHEN PATIENTS ARE FACED WITH THE IDEA OF POTENTIALLY HAVING SURGERY, IT CAN BE SCARY...

NOW THEY CAN TALK WITH SOMEONE WHO UNDERSTANDS. They can hear the real-life story of a patient that has received the technology and is now living with the device. These patients are our AMBASSADORS.

TROUBLE GETTING PRIOR APPROVAL?

Medtronic’s Therapy Access Solutions (TAS) can help patients and providers. Call them today at 866.446.3873 to be connected with the expert TAS analyst for your area, or email them.
Our Patient Ambassadors are not medical doctors or medical experts. They are volunteers who have received the technology and are passionate about sharing their experience in the hopes of helping other patients.

At Medtronic, we understand that patients may have questions that can only be answered by someone who has had a similar experience. We want to help connect patients with a community of others that have walked a similar path in hopes of helping them on their road to recovery.

If a patient is considering neck surgery or sacroiliac joint fusion surgery, they can sign up to speak with a Patient Ambassador. They will be asked a few questions, and then they will be able to schedule a convenient time to speak with an Ambassador.

Ambassadors can PROVIDE ANSWERS for patients from a PERSONAL PERSPECTIVE of someone who’s faced what prospective patients are facing.

They can answer important questions that real patients have:

- What were your symptoms before surgery?
- What were your symptoms after surgery?
- How was your recovery from the surgery?
- Since receiving the technology, how has your life been impacted?

Speaking with an Ambassador is not a substitute for talking with their doctor. Patients are encouraged to speak with their doctor about their treatment options.

TALK TO SOMEONE:

- who's had neck surgery
  CONNECT HERE
- who's had SI joint fusion surgery
  CONNECT HERE

OR VISIT http://www.medtronic.com AND Search ‘AMBASSADOR’ + ‘NECK’ OR ‘SIJOINT.’